

From: HUD USER News

Characteristics of HUD-Assisted Renters and Their Units in 2003 is the fourth in a series of reports that provides information on the size, composition, and quality of the HUD-assisted housing stock, as well as the characteristics of its occupants. The report also includes a comparison of HUD-assisted households with all income-eligible renters. HUD obtains this information by identifying assisted households that are also surveyed in the biennial national American Housing Survey (AHS). The 2003 data included in this report represent assisted households and units in all 50 states and the District of Columbia. However, because of sample limitations, data are only available for the United States as a whole, with simple tabulations for the four census regions.

This report can be downloaded free of charge in sections or in its entirety as a Zip File at www.huduser.org/publications/pubasst/hud_asst_rent.html.

Please contact us at:
HUD USER
P.O. Box 23268
Washington, DC 20026-3268
1-800-245-2691
1-800-927-7589 (TDD)
202-708-9981 (fax)

The HUD USER News eList keeps busy professionals in the fields of housing and community development informed of new research and resources available from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Office of Policy Development and Research (PD&R). Periodically, publication announcements and other useful information will be sent via the eList. The HUD USER and Regulatory Barriers Clearinghouses value your privacy; we do not share our mailing lists with other groups, and you can unsubscribe at any time.

You can search the eList archives at <http://listserv.huduser.org/>.

Why not share HUD USER's resources and information with a colleague? Forward this email to associates who may be interested in the housing research and data sets we have to offer. Thanks!

To keep up with the latest HUD research and related resources, you can also sign up for a free subscription to our ResearchWorks newsletter (in either electronic or print-based formats) by visiting <http://www.huduser.org/emaillists/subscr.html>.

You were sent this HUD USER News update because you expressed interest in receiving a weekly email to stay informed of new HUD research and resources. If you no longer wish to receive this email, please send an email to hudusernews@huduser.org with "unsubscribe" as the SUBJECT.